high school. For three years,
your ideas about life
grow and develop.
Your interests spring
in all directions.
At first —
you look for people like yourself, with your interests,
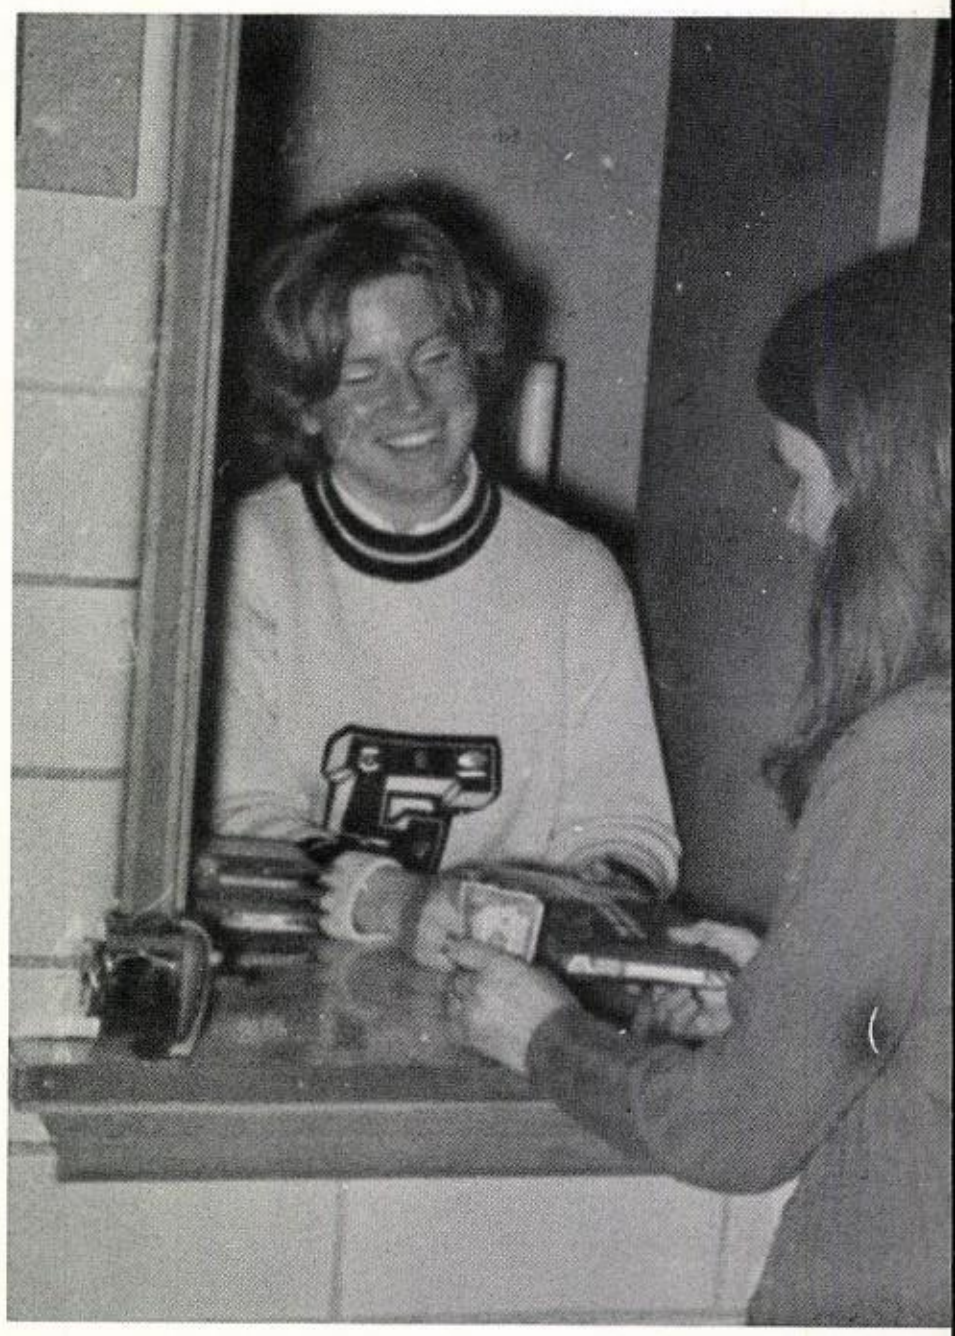
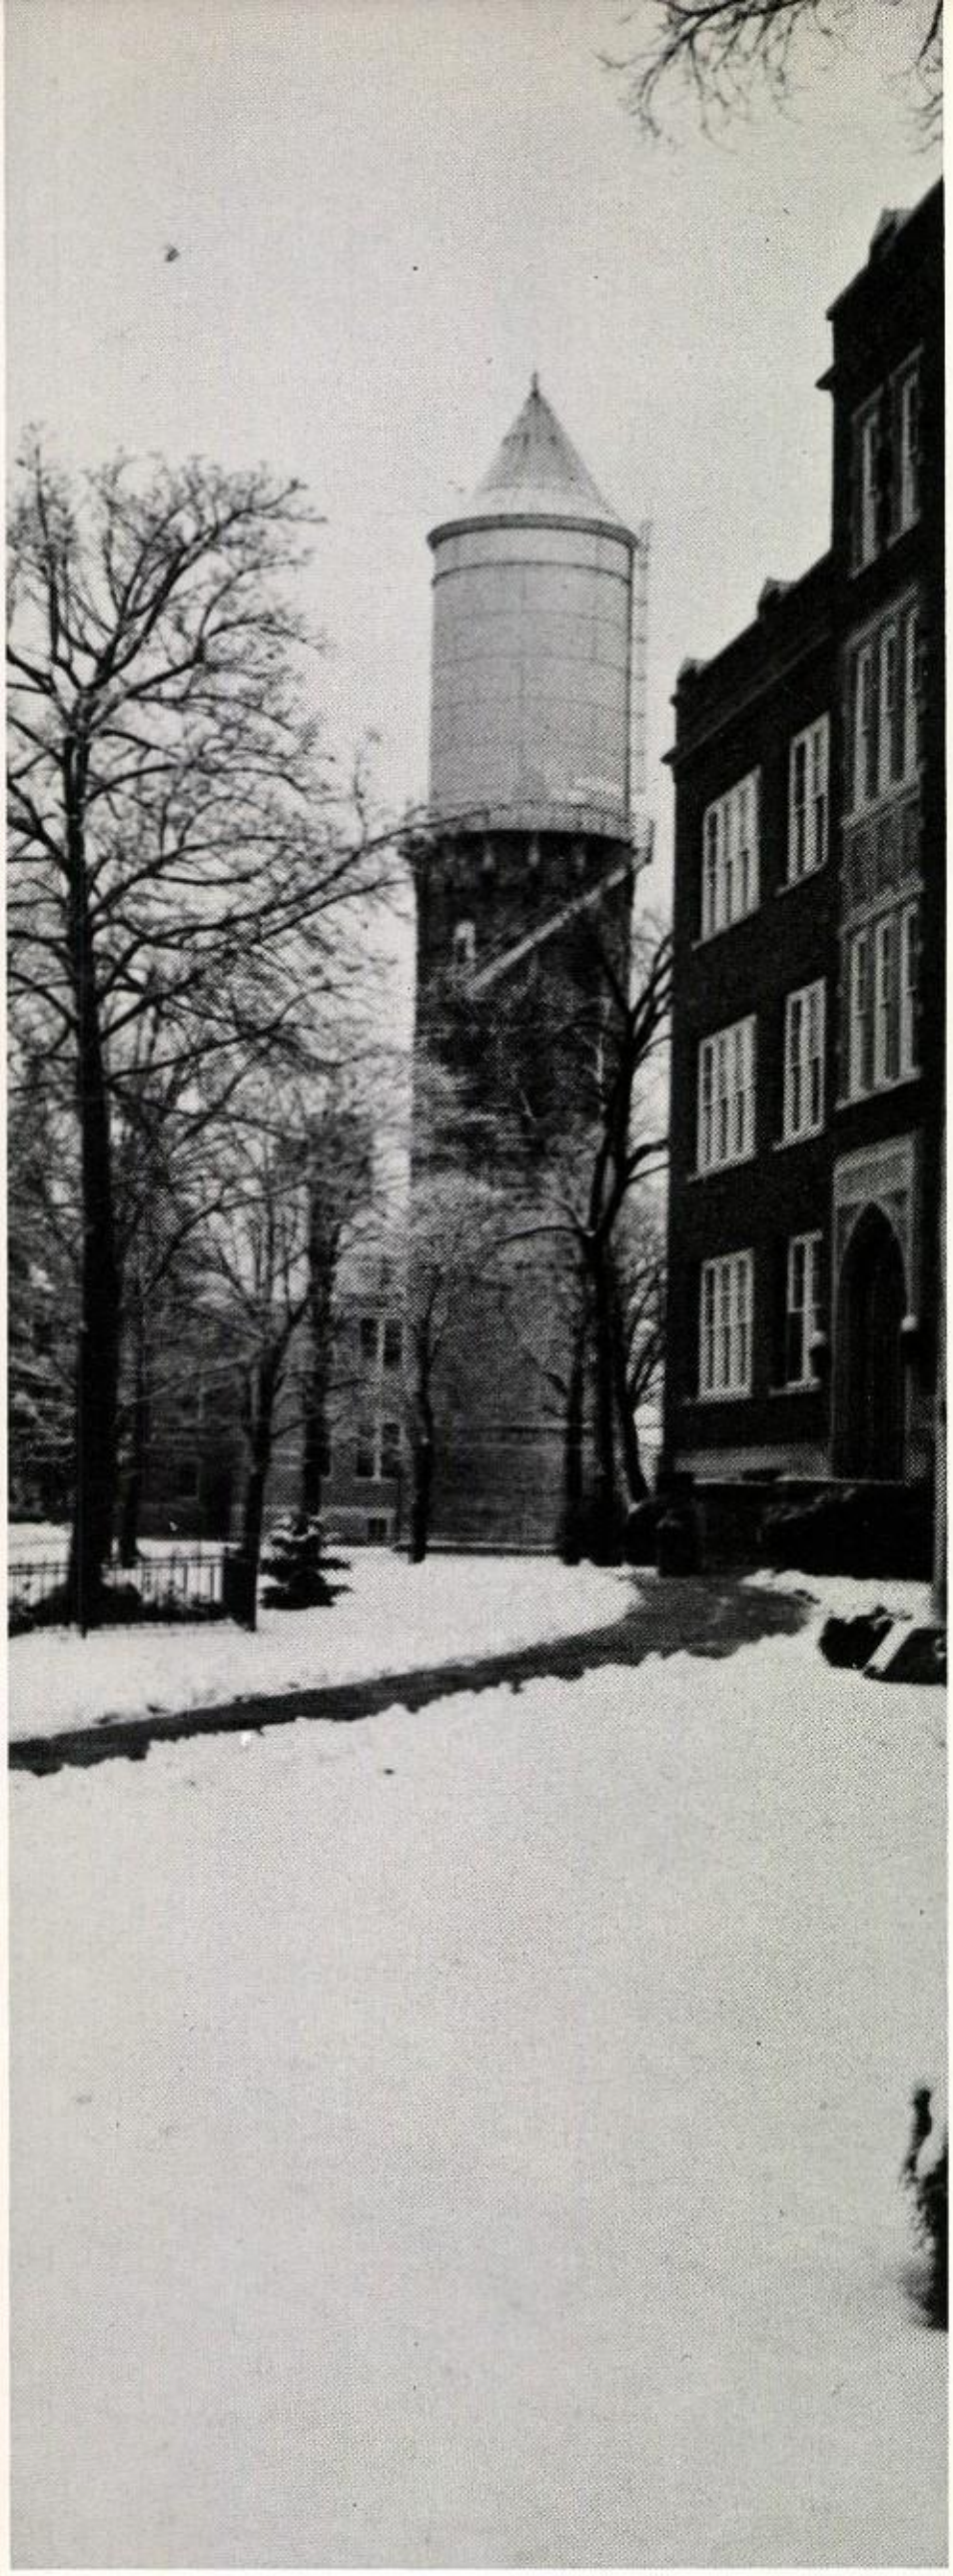
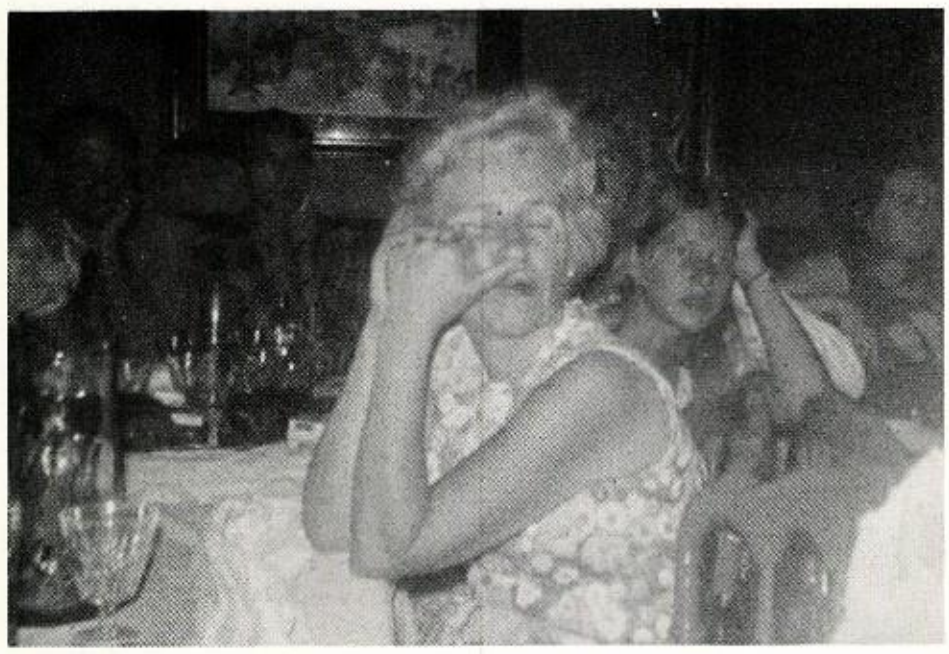
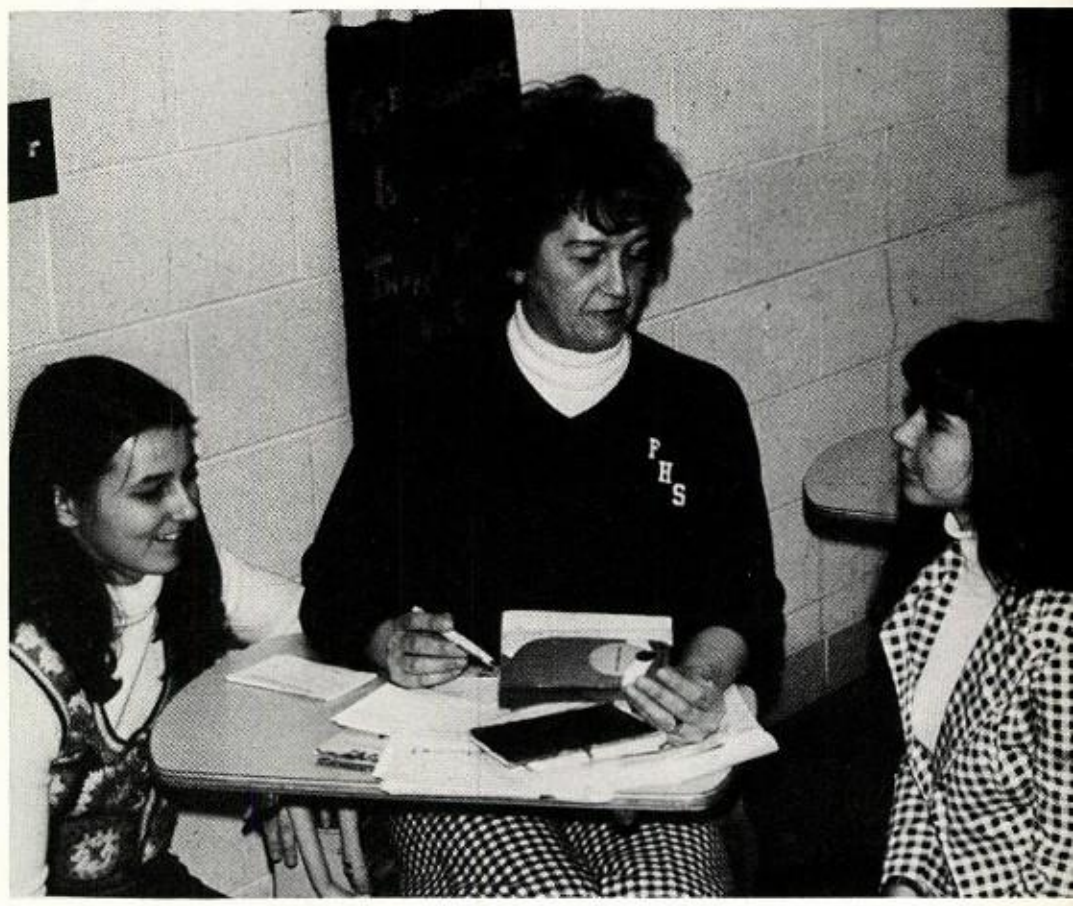
your enthusiasm,
your feelings.
You find them —
you are involved.









PHS

During the time you spend at FHS, you feel you must give meaning to your life —
through your studies,
your friends,
your community —
the world.
You find that you must become involved.
You must make commitments —
for your happiness, your security —
your sanity.

But you want more.
You want to become — a necessary part of that particular group that interests you.
Being involved means being included.
You give your time,
your ideas,
your devotion.
You finally realize — you are no longer an observer
but an active part.
Very necessary.
Very involved.

Vicki Ciaglo depicts lead in "Alice in Wonderland"

During the month of April, 1973, a children's theater presented a play at the J. F. Luther junior high school. "Alice in Wonderland" under the direction of Mrs. Audrey Fixmer amused both young and old alike. Vicki Ciaglo obtained the lead role in the two act play. In the leading male role, Rick Bauer played the king.

Kathy Carpentier headed the make up crew for the play. The crew handmade all the animals' faces as well as the unique costumes.

The students of Fort high presented the annual art show in the month of May in the activity room of FHS. Mr. Hase's art survey and advanced art classes exhibited works of art that they completed during the school year.

"Brigadoon" brings Scottish highlands to FHS gym

By the beginning of March rehearsals for the all-school musical "Brigadoon" began. Mrs. Krizsan, Mr. James and Mr. Schubert served as director, music director and business manager.

Leading the double cast play were Mark Zastrow, Laura Landowski, Luke Russell and Connie Blodgett on Thursday and Saturday nights. Taking the stage on Friday and Sunday nights were Mike Ajango, Kathy Poeppel, Eddie Desjarlais, and Karyn Scheid. The four night presentation took place on Mary 10-13.

Mrs. Krizsan incorporated the use of male and female dancing and singing choruses. Maureen Riedy choreographed the dancing, while Linda Landowski and Jim Athas lead the cast and crew as student directors. The costume, makeup, and lighting crews helped to create the mystical environment of "Brigadoon."

Peace Train provides mood music for "Saturday in the Park" Prom

"Saturday in the Park" became the theme of the 1973 junior Prom. For the first time in many years the Fort Atkinson Municipal Building was the sight of the Prom. The mood of an old-fashioned evening in the park was created out of chicken wire and cardboard pillars which formed a pavilion that enclosed the entire dance floor.

A sidewalk cafe furnished refreshments. Spectators observed couples around the fountain and floral draped ponds. Park benches added a romantic touch and a place to relax and enjoy the atmosphere.

Leading the grand march were Queen Sue VanderMause and King Luke Russell. Junior class representatives were Sue Church and Lori Luebke. Also on the court were co-chairwomen Mary Sue Humphrey and Lisa Lueder and their dates. A five piece group, "Peace Train," provided the music.

Fort Fest, Watergate, transpire during '73 summer

"Hassle" best described the activities of the summer of '73. Some students had summer jobs as gas station attendants or car hops, while others enjoyed swimming and lying in the sun.

4-H members spent the summer finishing their projects for the fairs. Traveling abroad became popular for many FHS faculty members who invaded Germany, Norway, Spain, France and Mexico.

Political situations in the summer of '73 had some people interested. The T.V. coverage of Watergate was so extensive that soap opera addicts will never find out if John really loved Mary.

Chairman Mimi Bienfang planned the Fort Fest dance. Other FHS students lent their dramatic talents to the historic Blackhawk pageant and "Mid-summer Night's Dream." Seventeen girls vied for the title of Miss Fort Fest, and Gail Mepham, a 1973 graduate, claimed the crown with Cynthia Knaack first runner-up and Lynda Strom second runner-up.

School year begins in 95° heat; Koshkonong Alert group forms

Another year of anticipation began at Fort high at 8:06 a.m. on August 29, 1973. Many faces shown puzzlement during those first few days of classes, especially the sophomores. The sweltering heat of 90 degrees kept attention spans at a minimum for the first week or two.

The year started out in the public eye with the very controversial nuclear power plant. A Koshkonong Alert group formed in opposition to the plant. A series of hearings were scheduled in the large main room of the high school with many area television stations telecasting the interviews.

A new schedule introduced at FHS this year had students participating in an eight period day, each period containing 52 minutes in the day.

Cheerleaders give Sha-ra-ra skit as Homecoming pep week activity

"Yesterday Once More" was the theme for Homecoming at which senior Jan Foelker reigned over the event. "Libertine Rock" played for the dance with its nostalgic theme.

The class of '75 captured first place in the hall decorating contest. First prize at character day went to Pat Schroeder, Ellen Zemel, and Jean Sarnosky as actors of the silent movies era. Dr. Cadaverino, Jim Kelly, claimed second place. On Thursday night of Homecoming week spirited students attended the bonfire. Seniors won first place in the yelling contest.

Homecoming sparked excitement with the cheerleaders greased and ready for their Sha-ra-ra skit and leading the crowd with cheers at a pep assembly. The only disappointment to Homecoming was the loss to Sun Prairie 49-14 at the football game. Afterwards, students invaded the carnival at which were many booths, including an egg drop, a jail, and a live music booth.

Jane Hevey dramatizes lead in "Skin of Our Teeth"

A cast, consisting primarily of sophomores and juniors, presented the all-school play, "Skin of Our Teeth," on November 1, 2 and 3. Junior Jane Hevey portrayed the lead of Sabina, the maid. Phil Schoofs played Mr. Antrobus, and Patty Teed performed the part of his wife. Their children were Debbie Buchholtz as Gladys and Luke Russell characterized as Henry.

This pre-historic, light-hearted comedy called for Mrs. Fixmer using double casting for many of the minor parts in the production. Three seniors took control backstage. Laurine Thureson student directed, while Jim Borchardt was technical director. Kathy Carpentier created the makeup for all characters. Mrs. Audrey Fixmer coordinated the work of all student actors, chairmen and stagehands.

Keynote speaker George Walter sparks career day

Under the direction of Mr. James, choir members went Halloween caroling. They visited teachers' homes and sang songs like "I'm Dreaming of a Great Pumpkin."

The Milwaukee Symphony again sent some of its fine musicians to the Senior high school. A group of seven men and women represented the different sections of the orchestra.

In December, the Methodist Church became the setting for the community-wide presentation of "The Messiah." Several high school students participated in lead roles.

On December 4, the Kiwanis Club again sponsored the bi-annual Career Day. The event opened with a speech entitled "Three coins in the Fountain," dealing with students' opportunities after graduation.

Staff enjoys Christmas dinner; FHA sponsors annual holiday tea

Blackhawk Band, Treble Clef choir, Concert Choir and Orchestra combined their talents for two Christmas concerts. They presented one for the public and one for the student body before vacation.

Redskins decorated the annual Yuletide tree and provided cookies for the teachers' lounge. Senior members frolicked through the halls portraying Santa and his reindeer handing out candy canes.

Teachers enjoyed a pre-Christmas dinner of ham and beef on December 13 at Club 26. FHA members entertained teachers at an after-school holiday tea December 19.

A late snow delayed Winter Carnival activities, cancelling all except the dance, held after the Monroe game.

Several clubs organized holiday parties and activities. Lisa Lueder hosted a Christmas party for the yearbook staff at her home. Tobogganing challenged the skill of choir members while the cheerleaders brought Christmas carols to the homes of the basketball and wrestling teams.

"Enchanted Forest" enthrones Senior Gail Smedal

Over 100 couples entered the Redskins' "Enchanted Forest" through a castle's winding staircase. A field of flowers surrounded the bandstand on which the group, "The Beans," played. Pools of shimmering water graced the corners, while a gingerbread house held refreshments.

Senior Redskins composed the list of candidates for the title of Redskin Princess. Mr. Richard James, master of ceremonies, announced the girls and their escorts as they entered from the ceiling-high castle. He then announced senior member Gail Smedal as the princess. Holly Hutchins crowned Gail on a decorative flower setting. Gail Smedal and her escort Scott Angus led the next dance while the rest of the senior Redskin members joined in.

President Nixon's regulations cool school to 67°

As the temperature outside dropped and the winter winds blew, students entered a cold Fort high school in a darkness that resembled the middle of the night. January temperatures fell to a chilling −20° and, many times snow storms threatened the closing of schools. Although the school attempted to maintain President Nixon's demands of a 67°school, some rooms felt much colder and some felt very warm. At various times temperatures in the old building soared to 90.° Students and teachers arrived bundled up in sweaters and warm clothes, with some sporting insulated underwear.

With the nation's January sixth change to Daylight Savings Time, students and teachers began arriving at school in the dark. As a result of the dark mornings, the Whitewater Avenue crossing guard suffered numerous injuries when a passing motorist failed to see him and ran into him.

Gas shortages and high prices encouraged students to discontinue driving to school. Students interested in saving gas organized car pools. Concerned adults who traveled to basketball games chartered buses to enable the group to see them.

Left: Since the President's request of no gas sales on Sunday, virtually all stations hung signs telling of their recently changed hours.

Seniors anticipate excursions to Hawaii, Spain

Various activities kept students busy during the early months of 1974. Instrumental band and orchestra students from the high school took part in the Pop's Concert held in mid-February. Mr. Crook, Mr. Werve, Mr. Babcock, and Mrs. Romstad directed phases of the concert.

Local Thespian members set February 23, 1974, as the date for the "Thespian Follies." The "Follies" was a variety show featuring high school students. The different acts all involved some aspect of the theme "Energy." Thespians sponsored this show instead of the spring musical.

Approximately 50 seniors flew to Hawaii in April during Easter vacation to enjoy eight days of sun and surf. Other students went to Spain during the Spring recess while still others journeyed to Florida.

On May 24, 1974, students attended Rock Day ceremonies on the high school lawn. Many anticipated the outcome of Awards Day in May. The editor of the Tchogeerrah also held the 1974 yearbook presentation.

NHS initiates seven sophomores into membership

National Honor Society President Mark Zastrow served as Master of Ceremonies for the 1973 initiation banquet held April 30. Karen Scheid, sec., presented the new members to those present, as Beth Gore, v. pres., administered the pledge.

Principal Glenn Lepley presented NHS pins and membership cards to the 32 new members. This gave NHS a total membership of 50 for the end of the 1972-73 school year. Seven sophomores, six juniors and 19 seniors made up the group of new members.

At the banquet, old members of the National Honor Society explained the society's symbol, its purpose and history to the incoming members. New members then took part in a candle lighting ceremony.

National Honor Society members spent many weeks working in the commons snack bar to repay the Student Council for sponsoring half their page in the yearbook.

Fort holds Tv6 "Who Knows?" title after winning final round

Jim Peterson, Eric Olson, Bill Dexheimer, and alternate Scott Reich composed the second Fort Atkinson quiz team to win a Tv6 "Who Knows?" championship in five years. Another team won a similar title in the 1968 spring series of the quiz program.

In May 1973, teachers chose the group from interested students by their ability to answer questions from quick recall. Mr. Don Piper coached this year's team, while many other teachers provided valuable information and trivia for them.

Sixteen southern Wisconsin schools entered the "Who Knows?" competition. In the eliminations Fort Atkinson defeated Brookfield East high school 479-238. The team then beat Saint John's Military Academy 516-386, and the defending champions from West Bend West 398-354.

Fort Atkinson trailed Greendale high school through the first five rounds of the championship match. Fort came out with some needed answers in final round action to claim a slim 376-327 win and the "Who Knows?" title for the fall/winter series.

Fort Atkinson sent a second team to Milwaukee to defend the championship title. The new "Who Knows?" team consisted of Gregg Petersen, Tom McCord, capt., Kathy Scherwitz and alternate Cindy Revels.

Supervisor Wilde improves appearance of car lot

Student Council kicked off the year as president Kim Summeril greeted students at the opening assembly. Student Council added to its many achievements by receiving the WASC Gavel Achievement Award for the fifth consecutive year. Also Kim Summeril won the Student of the year Award for his outstanding character.

Council members earned money throughout the year from the snack bar. They spent this money in a variety of ways. The Council purchased picnic tables for student use, both in the commons and out doors.

Many hot days students could be seen lying on the tables for a dark tan, or just relaxing. Parking lot supervisor Mike Wilde spent Student Council earnings and his time improving the appearance of the student parking lot and surrounding area. He had the parking lot leveled off and sanded to keep the cars from sliding.

Powerlifting meet raises funds; club buys isokenitic equipment

By sponsoring the Fort Atkinson Open High School Powerlifting Meet, the weight lifters earned enough money to purchase various pieces of equipment for the club. Funds from this event helped to purchase a 555 pound exercise set, two 400 pound Olympic sets and four isokenitic machines.

During the year, lifters came in on their own and did different types of exercises using the weights to keep themselves in shape. Many Fort Atkinson students participated in the March 30 Powerlifting Meet. Entrants lifted weights in the categories of bench press, squat and dead lift.

Co-advisers Mr. Hovel and Mr. Kramer, both junior high teachers, explained that in order to perform a bench press, the weightlifter had to lower his weights to his chest and then extend his arms.

To carry out the squat lift, the lifter positions himself parallel to the floor and rises, then puts the bar back on the rack. A dead lift can be done by picking the bar off the floor and extending the arms above the head.

Ecuador hosts Bonnie Stedman

American Field Service student Irham Dilmy journeyed to the United States in July to stay here under the AFS program. Irham lived with the John Simpkin family while he attended classes here as a senior.

Irham came to Fort from Bogar, Indonesia, a large city located on the island of Java. Fort Atkinson provided Irham with a difference both in climate and scenery.

The open countryside in the area impressed Irham, where he saw a barn for the first time. His first encounter with snow allowed him to participate in winter activities unheard of in Indonesia.

After Irham graduated in June, he planned to see parts of Europe before returning home to complete his education.

Loja, Ecuador, provided Bonnie Stedman with an AFS home during her ten weeks abroad between her junior and senior year.

In Loja, Bonnie lived with the Arias Burneo family, where she had 14 brothers and sisters. Bonnie relied on her four years of Spanish courses frequently because her family couldn't understand English.

Bonnie didn't attend school in Loja, but learned by traveling. She recommended that students strive for more AFS travel because it was a great experience meeting people from new lands.

Mellow Winds stage band plays for alumni banquet

One hundered and two band members diligently marched out onto the football field everday at eight a.m., for several weeks. Out on the cold, damp field the Blackhawk band practiced marching for the many parades and football games they attended during the 1973 football season.

Band Day proved to be a challenge for the Blackhawk band as they travelled to Madison for a gathering of several selected high school bands. After practicing together all morning, the bands played for the half-time show of the Badger game.

Mr. Werve conducted the Blackhawk marching band which placed third in both the Fort Fest and Gemeütlichkeit Parades.

The Mellow Winds stage band, consisting of adults and highschool students, played at the Fort Atkinson Alumni Banquet in May. Mr. Grayson Babcock directed the stage band and concert band, which performed for many concerts during the year.

Band students choose site of tri-annual journey

In order to raise funds for the band's 1975 summer excursion music students traveled around town selling magazine subscriptions during the first semester.

For their December 18th Christmas Concert, band members prepared and studied their music. Those that attended enjoyed the delightful selection presented by the group. They played "Russian Christmas Music" and "Second Symphany." The feature of the evening called "Christmas Story" provided listeners with a narration.

In January, members of the Blackhawk band voted on the destination of their 1975 tri-annual trip. The band spent much time preparing for the Pop's Concert held on February 10th and 11th. The Delavan Music festival in March also consumed much of the band's time.

Choir sells scented candles for new music dept. acoustical shell

During the second nine weeks choir students sold candles and stationery to raise money for the new acoustical shell.

On November 16, Parents Night, the choir sang and danced to "Everything's Coming up Roses" during halftime of the last football game.

The choir prepared six numbers for the high school music department Christmas concert on December 18.

The treble clef choir, formerly known as the Girl's Chorale, visited the Fort Atkinson Women's Club and sang for other clubs during the Christmas season. They also sang at Santa's House. The choir participated in church activities and sang during various religious services.

Both choirs worked hard through the winter season preparing for the annual spring concert and solo and ensemble festival held in early spring at Delavan.

Collins receives National School Orchestra Award

Interest in the orchestra grew over the past year with each performance. The orchestra accompanied the chorus during the school musical, "Brigadoon."

At the annual Spring concert orchestra members elected Rhonda Collins as the outstanding senior orchestra member. Mrs. Romstad, orchestra director, presented Miss Collins with the National School Orchestra Award at the end of the concert.

Orchestra Boosters helped the group raise money to provide scholarships enabling orchestra members to attend music camps and clinics during the summer.

Orchestra had hopes of recruiting new members this year. They spent a few days visiting the various elementary schools throughout the district. At the schools, they demonstrated the playing ability of the different instruments and told what belonging to orchestra was like.

The group took two trips this year for enjoyment. One of these was a concert with a dinner following. The other trip was a picnic and swimming party.

Four obtain "A" ratings at state forensic contest

Twenty-eight determined students kicked off the forensic season on February 5, 1973, when FHS determined who would represent Fort Atkinson in the sectional forensic competition. Two FHS students participated in each of nine categories with the exception of the significant speech category.

On April 28, eight students traveled to Madison to attend the state meet on the UW campus. Four of the eight competitors received "A" ratings. The award winners included Gail Griffin, interpretive prose; Jim Klein, declamation; John Klein, original oratory; and Patty Teed, poetry.

Mr. Schubert coached the 1973 team with the assistance of Mrs. Krizsan. Between the two they planned and carried out the first Badger Conference Forensic meet which occurred on April 15. Six of the conference schools attended the competition which turned out to be a success for FHA. With students participating in eight categories, Fort Atkinson's team took the trophy for the highest point total.

Mr. Carlson advised the debate team which consisted of three senior high school members and two junior high members.

FHS Thespians visit convention, replace musical with "Follies"

Twenty-five students strived to express themselves, to be creative and most of all, to convey an idea, meaning or theme to an audience. These people and their adviser, Mrs. Fixmer, made up FHS's branch of the International Thespian Society.

Although being a Thespian member was not a prerequisite for acting in the all-school play, many who participated in "The Skin of Our Teeth" were Thespians.

Viterbo College, LaCrosse, hosted the State Thespian Convention in 1973. Mrs. Fixmer and ten Thespian members attended the convention, along with participants from other charter troops throughout the state. Viterbo College presented the modern opera "Herod," and Janesville Parker senior high school dramatized the Greek classic, "Antigone," in modern costumes.

Thespian Follies was the Thespians' major achievement in the 1973-74 school year. They invited both faculty members and the student body to try out. Students made up original acts and auditioned for this production. A silent movie, an impersonation of Nixon, and a men's kicking line, whose members included Mr. Lepley and Mr. Roub, were among the acts presented.

F-Club negotiates possibility of female members

Threatened by the entry of nearly 20 girls into F-Club, Mr. Karl Schlender organized a committee of ten members to decide if female letter winners should be allowed to join F-Club. This was the first year at FHS that girls received letters for their achievements in the area of athletics.

After pondering and discussing the issue, the committee decided against allowing the girls to join FHS's lettermen's club.

After each sports season new letter winners joined F-Club, and older members put them through embarrassing but hilarious initiations.

The only requirements for belonging to F-Club were the possession of a letter and upholding the standards set up by the athletic board for all athletes, male and female, at Fort Atkinson high school.

Pep Club sells Blackhawk beanies and concessions at invitational

Advising Pep Club for her first year was Mrs. Barbara Kuehl. Approximately 35 members held elections in the fall for new officers. Kathy Cox assumed the position of president, Sandy Poeppel, vice-president, and Sue Schmidt secretary.

Pep Club members held regular meetings Wednesdays after school in the activity room. During Homecoming week participating members sponsored a booth with a pretty legs contest. They also sold Blackhawk buttons to raise funds for the group.

Participants attempted to bolster school spirit by holding a Homecoming sign painting contest and a yelling contest. Other activities included operating a concessions stand at the Wrestling Invitational, sponsoring buses to away games and selling Blackhawk hats. The group also donated $100 to the pom-pom girls.

Art League members decorate downtown windows

During the course of the year, Art League members created a variety of projects from painting, to pottery, to pumpkins. They held a bake sale to aid them in purchasing needed materials for their works.

Art League members helped during the festive week of Homecoming. They volunteered to paint spirit raising signs on store windows in the downtown area. Norm Godfrey, co-owner of The Pharmacy, donated the paint for the talented students. Art League members followed tradition by carving pumpkins during the month of October.

Artists also found time to make and hang projects for the 1974 Hoard Art Show and to set up the High School Spring Art Show. Many left FHS with the products of their hard spent time in search of profit.

Redskins award $50 scholarship; burn rival's effigy at bonfire

Redskins' junior class members were responsible for making the traditional initials of the Homecoming rival. Students enjoyed drenching their favorite teachers at Redskins' Homecoming booth. Participants used a squirt gun in attempting to extinguish a candle held by a teacher.

Each year Redskins award a $50 scholarship to a senior member. The recipient in 1973 was Pat Heiden, past Redskins president. In order to raise money for the scholarship, Redskins undertook many projects. Their biggest and most profitable undertaking was Redskins' mid-winter formal in January. Other projects were ushering for the Pop's Concert, selling concessions at the local Community Theatre productions, and ushering for the All-School Play.

Key Club plays baseball with countryside residents

Homecoming was one of the first projects of the year for many organizations, and so it was for Key Club, FHS's honor organization for boys. Key Club members volunteered their study halls to work in the Homecoming voting booths. They also had a booth called "Stump the Band" at the carnival following the Homecoming game.

Mr. Elwood Carlson remained as the adult advisor to Key Club again this year. At one of their first meetings in 1973, Key Club's 34 members elected Phil Schoofs, president; Jim Foelker, secretary; Greg Peterson, treasurer; Eric Olson, senior class chairman; and Dale Wells, junior class chairman.

Key Club tackled many service projects such as helping at the Blood Bank, judging and setting up cross country meets, and playing baseball with the residents at the Countryside Home and Hospital.

Spanish Club travels to Chicago; Wall Hangers yield major profits

Mrs. Marion Dexheimer and Mrs. Evelyn Widmann served as co-advisers of the 30 member Spanish club. Participants held monthly meetings the fourth Thursday after school.

Students that attended the September meeting voted for club officers. Debbie Zelten assumed the position of president, while Jeanna Kraus acted as vice-president and Steve Hammer was secretary.

Members sponsored a booth at the carnival after the Homecoming football game which featured a ring-toss with prizes for the student adept at that game. Other activities included the selling of Harvey-wall-Hangers, which were a type of bulletin board, and traveling to Chicago to see the Spanish ballet Folklorico. They also experimented with native Spanish food.

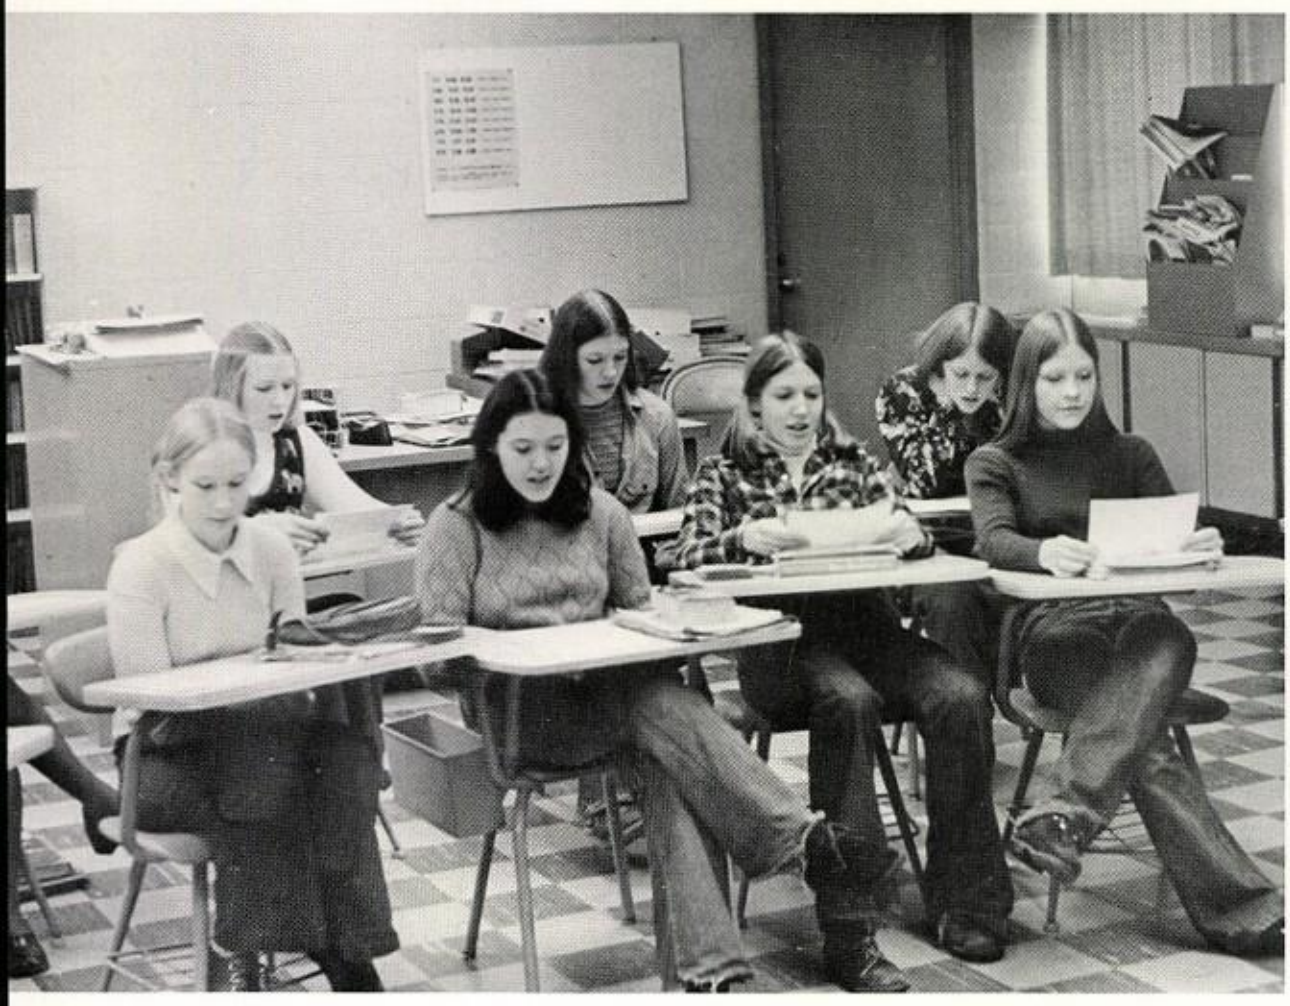
French Club holds second annual Christmas dinner



Early planning set off a good year for French Club members and their adviser, Mrs. Nancy Price. They began the year by sponsoring a booth at the Homecoming carnival. They served cream puffs along with other French cuisine baked by the members.

The 23 members held elections for officers in September of 1973. Assuming offices were Mary Sue Humphrey as president and Noreen Kutz as vice-president.

Members held weekly meetings on Wednesdays after school to discuss business matters. These included various French pastry sales held in the commons and a combined second annual Christmas dinner and party which members held in the home economics room. The participants prepared and consumed French food. Money earned by students through the various projects went to pay for the club's activities.

Co-ordination of department faces AV team daily

AV club proved to be very essential in the workings of the school. The department scheduled interested students into the AV center to work with the audio-visual equipment during their free periods. They taped television programs, took care of recorders, players and tapes, and repaired equipment. Students also broadcasted their own shows originating in the AV center. AV members produced the Stanford Achievement testing instructions and school registration program in this manner.

Students belonging to AV club earned ¼ credit for their independent studies. In the evenings students came to the AV center to videotape programs that did not appear during school. They also spent several Saturdays taping and viewing shows.

Lance Shanahan and Mr. John Erickson served as AV co-ordinators, while Mrs. Donkle worked as secretary for the group.

Chess Club engages in area play; evenings serve as practice hours

In order to be ready to take on any and all challengers, members of the FHS chess club spent several nights after school building up their knowledge of the game.

In its second year of competition, the chess club posted several wins. Although the club had a small membership, it started the season with a 4-1 victory over Whitewater. They followed this with a 3-2 win over Jefferson. Not only did they play area schools, but they competed against large schools, such as Janesville Craig. The team also struggled through a game against a group of students from UW-Whitewater.

From practice sessions Mr. Camplin, team co-ordinator, rated each member's ability and stamina. This ranking determined match placement of the players.

Terry Canton, an honorary chess club member from Nicaragua, added to the evening practices by teaching participants the Spanish names of the playing pieces.

Photo Club consisted of ten advanced photographers and Mr. Raasoch, their adviser. The ten participants held bi-monthly meetings in an unstructured fashion, without officers.

The overall motives for the photo club members included improving their photography skills, experimenting with new films and developing techniques and finding more interesting subject matter. As an extra project two students, Doug Merriman and Jim Peterson, worked as photographers for the "Daily Jefferson County Union."

A field trip to Whitewater proved educational for the photo club members. The work of several renowned photographers was on display for the general public.

FHA participates in fall rally; attends state convention in June

Mrs. Ehrke and Mrs. Kuehl advised the Future Homemakers of America, an organization for girls interested in the area of home making and home furnishing.

Early in the year FHS's 25 members collected annual dues, elected officers and started planning activities for the 1973-74 school year. As a service project, FHA held a Christmas party for the underprivileged children in the community. They also gave a tea for the high school teachers.

FHA participated in several district and state activities, including the fall rally at Milton where members from all over the district met to discuss new ideas and to compare individual clubs. FHA also sent delegates to the state convention at Green Lake in June. In order to raise money for many of these projects FHA sold tee-shirts, stationery and baked goods.

Future Farmers of America build learning center

Future Farmers of America had a very active summer. They sponsored a booth at the State Fair. The BOAC, Building Our American Communities, project found FFA building a twenty-two acre learning center. Ten FFA members traveled through the Badlands as reward for top fruit sellers.

Allan Cook and Wayne Dahnert received the State Farmer Degree. FFA elected senior Ron Hagen to the state FFA band.

Projects included raising rabbits and selling refreshments at games. Extra activities were a Christmas toy drive and the distribution of sand at several gas stations. This project consisted of FFA members collecting milk cartons and filling them with sand for the public to use. FFA also took orders for fresh citrus fruit.

Alpine Valley Resort provides slopes for ski club

Ski club started off the year electing Tom Freeman as their president and Scott Peterson as vice president. In early March the club held a bake sale to raise funds for yearbook pages and skiing trips.

Alpine Valley provided the slopes for ski club's many excursions. Senior high and junior high students went along on the first trip, with the following trips strictly for senior high students. Many casualties befell ski club members during the winter. Brent MacWilliams broke his leg while skiing with the club on January 8, and most members received bumps and bruises.

Mr. Reed, ski club adviser, and Tom Freeman arranged a weekend skiing trip at Devil's Head during the weekend of February 22 to the 24.

Finances enable "Signal" to switch to newsprint

Five times a week nineteen FHS students met with Mr. Gail Roub to produce the monthly publication of the "Signal."

Editor Keith Morse attended a journalism clinic during the summer months. The entire staff attended a journalism convention held at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater. Individuals went to lectures and work sessions organized by the journalism department at Whitewater. For the second year in a row, the "Signal" received a first place award from the Whitewater University for the 1972-73 publications.

Business manager Ellen Zemel handled the finances for the "Signal." The "Signal" earned funds through monthly newspaper and subscription sales. They also sold advertising to the local merchants.

Yearbook editor picks Mondriaan as layout style for 1974 yearbook

Production of the yearbook took the free time of Tchogeerrah staffers throughout the 1973-74 school year. Plans for the 1974 book began in June with editor Lisa Lueder attended a journalism clinic at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire.

More complex than last year's mosaic style, students worked with a new layout style known as Mondriaan. The work of the 19th century artist inspired the new layout style which bears his name. His compositions usually consisted of three basic elements: the three primary colors, the three non-colors and an off-center cross.

During September, the entire yearbook staff convened at UW-Whitewater for a one-day journalism clinic. The 1973 Tchogeerrah, judged by journalism professors at the University, ranked third out of 33.

Money raising projects were a major activity for the yearbook class. Because the price of a book to the student covered only one-half the total cost of production. Tchogeerrah staff members solicited the local merchants for aid. In an effort to pick up sales students created "catchy" announcements to be read over the P.A. system during classes several hours of the day.

After the final pages reached the publisher in the spring, yearbook adviser, Mrs. Kohls set up individual learning activities, a first for the entire class.

Cheerleaders, pom-pom girls paint concession stand

After returning from summer cheerleading camps, all three FHS squads began work in their job of raising school spirit. Varsity cheerleaders, led by Captain Mimi Beinfang, attended the United States Cheerleaders Association Camp at George Williams College. Captain Diane Ketter led the J.V. squad which attended the National Cheerleading Camp at U.W. Stout. The wrestling and volleyball cheerleaders, led by Captain Sandi Punzel, also attended the United States Cheerleaders Camp at George Williams College in Williams Bay, Wis.

The cheerleaders and the pom-pom girls held money raising projects to help cut the cost of the summer camps and the new uniforms for the pom-pom girls. Bake sales, car washes, and booths at the Homecoming Carnival raised money for these groups. During the summer the girls painted the concession stand near the football field in school colors. The cheerleaders also presented skits at pep rallies throughout the year.

Mrs. Nancy Price served as the varsity, J.V., and wrestling cheerleaders' adviser for the third year. Mrs. Rebne advised the twelve girl pom-pom squad.

New system determines champion; Mayer, Hobe set school records

A new system initiated this year for determining the conference champion shattered the 1973 track team's hopes of retaining the conference championship. The system included dual meets with the other schools and the conference meet. The team that accumulated the most dual meet points, along with their finish in the conference meet, won the championship. Coach Schlender's thinclads lost dual meets to Middleton and Monona Grove. This eliminated any hopes of retaining the conference title.

Earlier in the 1973 season Fort came through with respectable performances at the La Crosse Invitational, placing 3rd out of 8; at the Madison West Relays, placing 7th out of 42; and at the Racine Case Invitational, placing 2nd out of 8.

Team members' individual performances produced many new records. Three school records fell as Dale Mayer set records in the pole vault, soaring 13 feet, 8 ¼ inches and also in the long jump, leaping 21 feet. Matt Hobe set the third record as he triple jumped 40 feet, 4 ½ inches. Steve Larsen was the only Hawk to be a conference champion as he won the 880 yard run in a time of 2.02.2 minutes. Larsen and sprinter Dean Wiesmann both qualified for sectional competition, but these performances failed to qualify them for State.

Ten lettermen returned to Coach Schlender's thinclads team. They formed the nucleus of the 1974 Fort track team.

Four baseball lettermen earn all-conference honors

The Blackhawk baseball team ended the 1973 season with a disappointing overall record of four wins and ten losses. The Blackhawks earned their victories over Delevan, Palmyra, Monroe, and Cambridge. The Conference teams overpowered the young Hawk team, pushing the Fort league record to a poor single win and seven defeats. Despite the unsuccessful season, the team still had its bright spots. Short-stop Steve Arnold was the team's leading hitter. His fine batting also earned him all conference honors along with lettermen Larry Turner, Luke Russell and LaVerne Turner.

With the return of Luke Russell, LaVerne Turner, and nine other lettermen filling most positions, Coach Larry Fronk had hopes for a successful 1974 season.

Tennis team nets twelfth place at state tournament

Blackhawk netters played to a successful fifth place standing in the Badger Conference. Coached by Mr. Verne Jordan, the team practiced and played their home matches at the Rock River Park Courts.

John Aufderhaar finished with a remarkable 17-5 record. His only disappointment was the loss of his crown as defending singles champion. A strong Monona Grove opponent beat him in 6-4 and 6-2 matches. John also qualified for the state tournament where he picked up four points before getting beat in the third round of play.

The netters finished the season with a four-win and three-loss conference record and an overall tally of five wins and fiv defeats. Coach Jordan looked forward to good season in the spring of 1974 wit three returning lettermen: Mike Babcock, Bill Dexheimer and Tom Godfrey. The ne ters tied for a 12th place standing at state i 1973.

Fort golfers won the Jefferson Invitational with a score of 329. Linksmen compiled a final conference record of four wins and three defeats and finished in fourth place in the Badger conference.

Mark Zastrow became medalist at the Jefferson Invitational and tied for the same honor in the regional meet at Whitewater. Zastrow drove and putted for 75's in both of his medalist victories.

Twenty-seven cross country men strive for conference standing

Coach Don Piper's 1974 cross country team attempted to retain the Bager Conference championship. However, other strong squads upset the harriers' plans.

The team placed third in the conference, and Steve Larsen led the team as the individual champion of the Fort Invitationals. His teammates voted him most valuable member of the team. Also, the squad voted Scott Reich most improved member and Greg Bauer received the title Rookie of the Year. Elections for 1974 co-captains took place later in the fall season. Ken Dahnert and John Sykes received the honors.

From the team, ten members earned their letters. Among them were seniors Bill Dexheimer, Phil Jackson, Steve Larsen, Gregg Petersen, Scott Reich and Steve Zelten. Junior John Sykes and sophomores Greg Bauer, Ken Dahnert and Dan Riedy possessed letters. Eric Gudenschwager also obtained a letter by acting as team manager.

Schlender's Hawks finish fifth; Lindl, Olson gain Badger honors

With a fifth place finish in the Badger Conference standings, Coach Schlender's Blackhawks ended their season with a conference record of 3 wins, 4 losses and a 3-6 overall record. Fort completed the season with 1,698 total offensive yards, just behind Sun Prairie and Monona Grove.

Although injuries hampered the performances of many players, they displayed rugged individual effort this past season. Blackhawks captured the third, fourth and fifth place in the league's individual scoring race. Halfback Roger Lindl led the Hawks scoring with ten touchdowns for 60 points, giving him third place in the league race. Senior lettermen Luke Russell and Scott Angus copped fourth and fifth place scoring spots, with 36 and 30 points respectively. Quarterback Russell completed 52 percent of his passes for a total of 434 yards. Running back Angus was a favorite target and leading pass receiver.

With the close of the season came all-conference selections. Conference coaches chose center, linebacker Eric Olson in both offense and defense standings. Lindl gained 585 total yards which brought him all-conference honors on offense. Lindl and linebacker Mike Ferrell received special mentions on defense. Honorable mentions went to running back Angus, tackle Jim Kelly and quarterback Russell on offense. Guard Dennis Draeger and linebacker Angus achieved honorable mentions on defense.

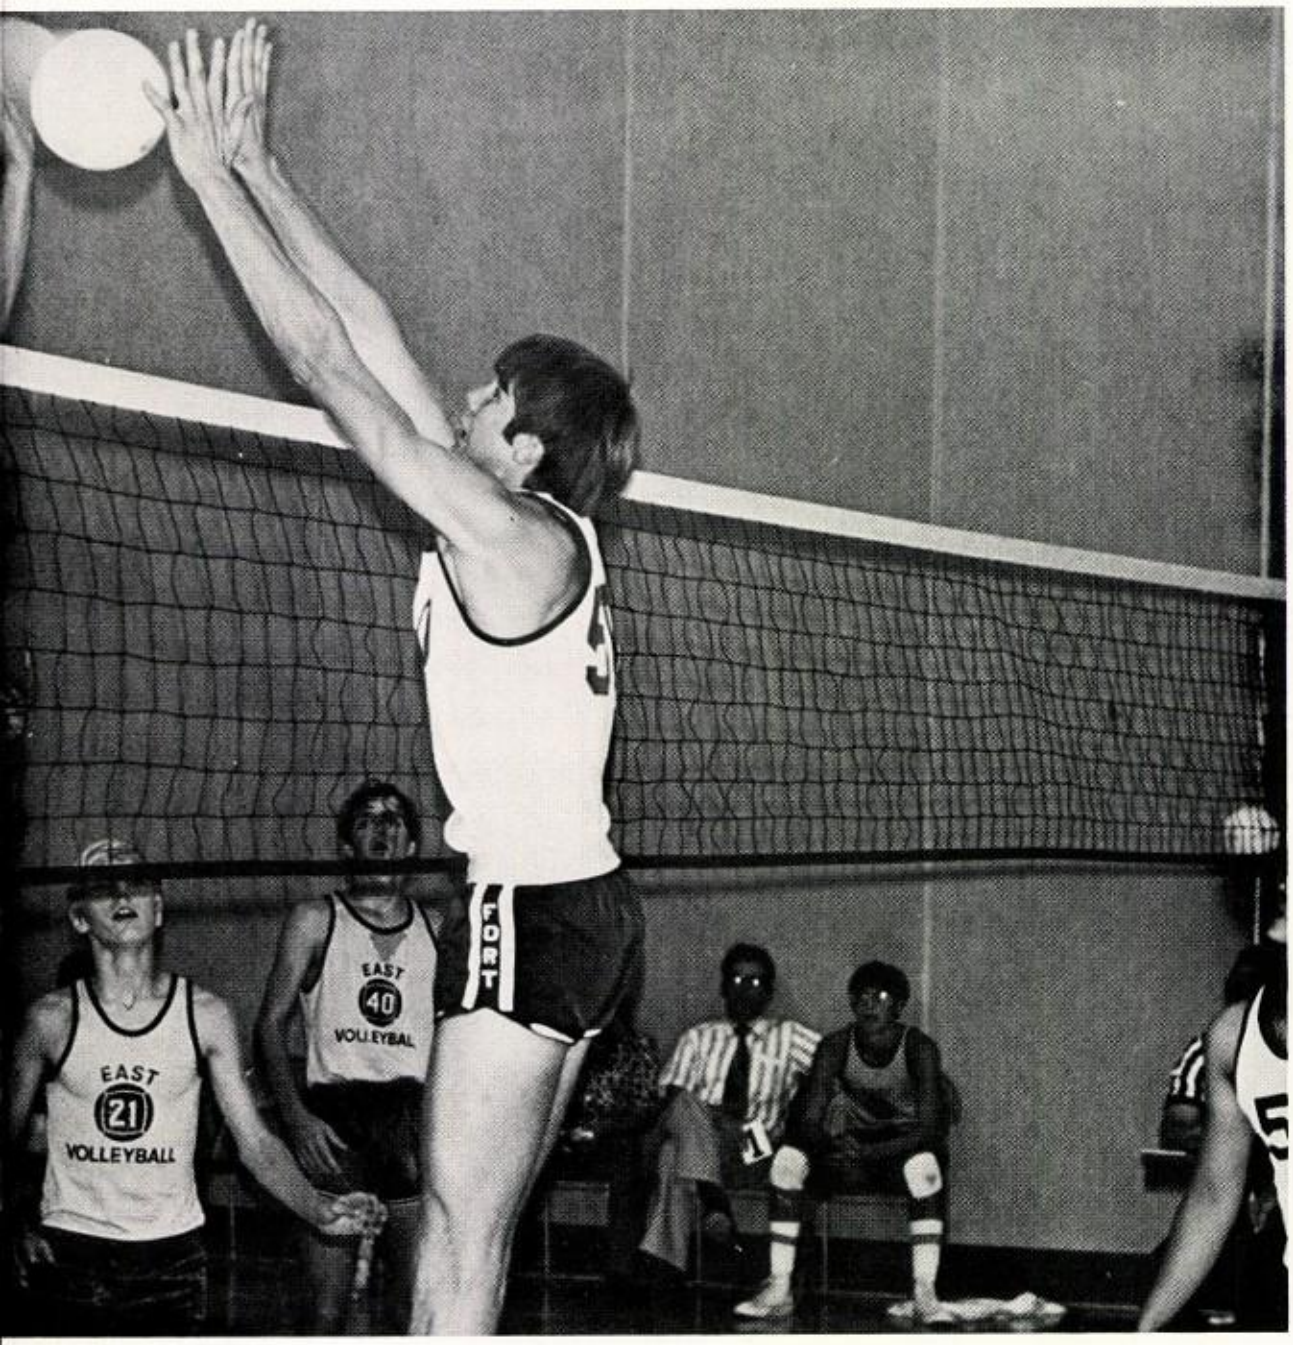
Hawk netters seize 1973 Badger Conference crown



Having one of the strongest line-ups, the Fort volleyball team seized the 1973 Badger Conference crown. Elvin Jacobson broke the individual school season scoring record with 194 points earned. The team completed its season with a 17-1 conference record and a 38-9 overall record. During the course of the season, the netters suffered only two defeats, which were at the hands of Maidson West and Waukesha. Coach Spaanem expected two returning lettermen for the 1974 season, juniors Randy Jacobson and Jim Burrow.

Unfortunately last fall, J.V. football terminated without a single conference victory. Coach Zentner found that one of the most promising players, Steve Ament, ran well with the ball when the squad provided sufficient blocking. Zentner also termed 1973 "a rebuilding year."

Hawk cagers streak to regional championship

For the first time in sixteen years, the 1973-74 Fort Blackhawk cager squad emerged as regional champs. Fort played host to regional action this season, and defeated both Mukwonago and Whitewater. The Hawks then went on to Beloit for sectional competition. Hopes for state qualification were eliminated when Fort was defeated by Burlington and Waukesha.

With a second place standing in the Badger Conference, the Blackhawk conference record stood at 11-3, while the overall mark ended 15-7.

Many players achieved individual honors, especially Elvin Jacobson who earned the Badger Conference Player of the Year award for the second consecutive year. Conference coaches chose senior Jacobson unanimously for first team all-conference, along with Tom Freidel and Luke Russell for second team all-conference honors. Jacobson broke the school career rebounding and scoring records with 1204 total points and 824 rebounds in his three years at FHS.

With junior starters Tom Freidel, Roger Lindl and three other returning lettermen, coach Don Gruber had hopes for another successful Hawk season next year.

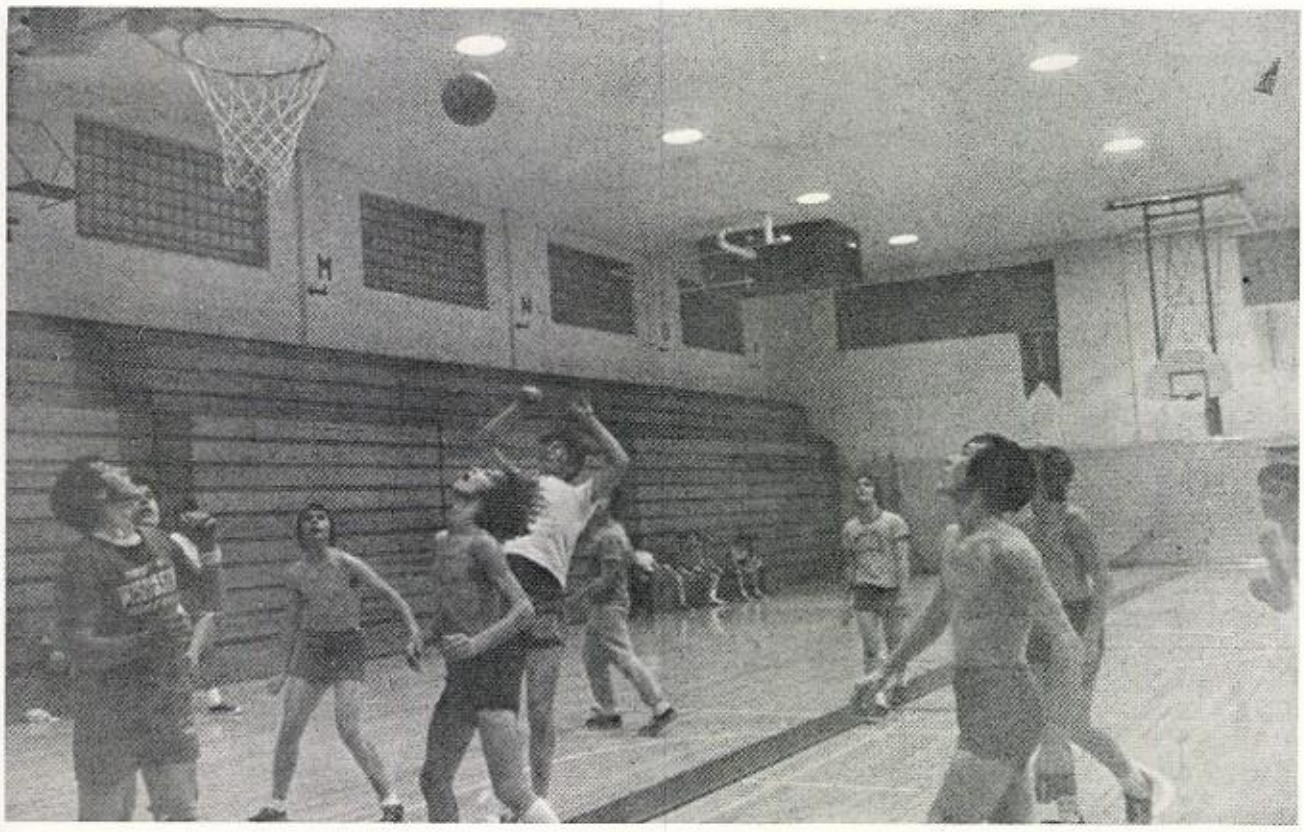
Basketball heads schedule for intramural sports



The winter sports schedule at FHS again included basketball intramurals for boys. Under the supervision of Mr. Schlender, competition started in early December. About 75 boys displayed their basketball skills in the action-packed Monday night games. The ten teams organized into sophomore and junior-senior leagues.

The junior varsity basketball team played a full schedule of an 18-game season. The only losses came to Monona Grove, Jefferson, Sun Prairie, Stoughton and Edgerton.

Coach Gary Hamm considered balance to be the key to the junior varsity team's success this season. Six different players led the team in scoring in one game or more during the season. The 1973-74 junior varsity team will provide many experienced players for next season's varsity team.

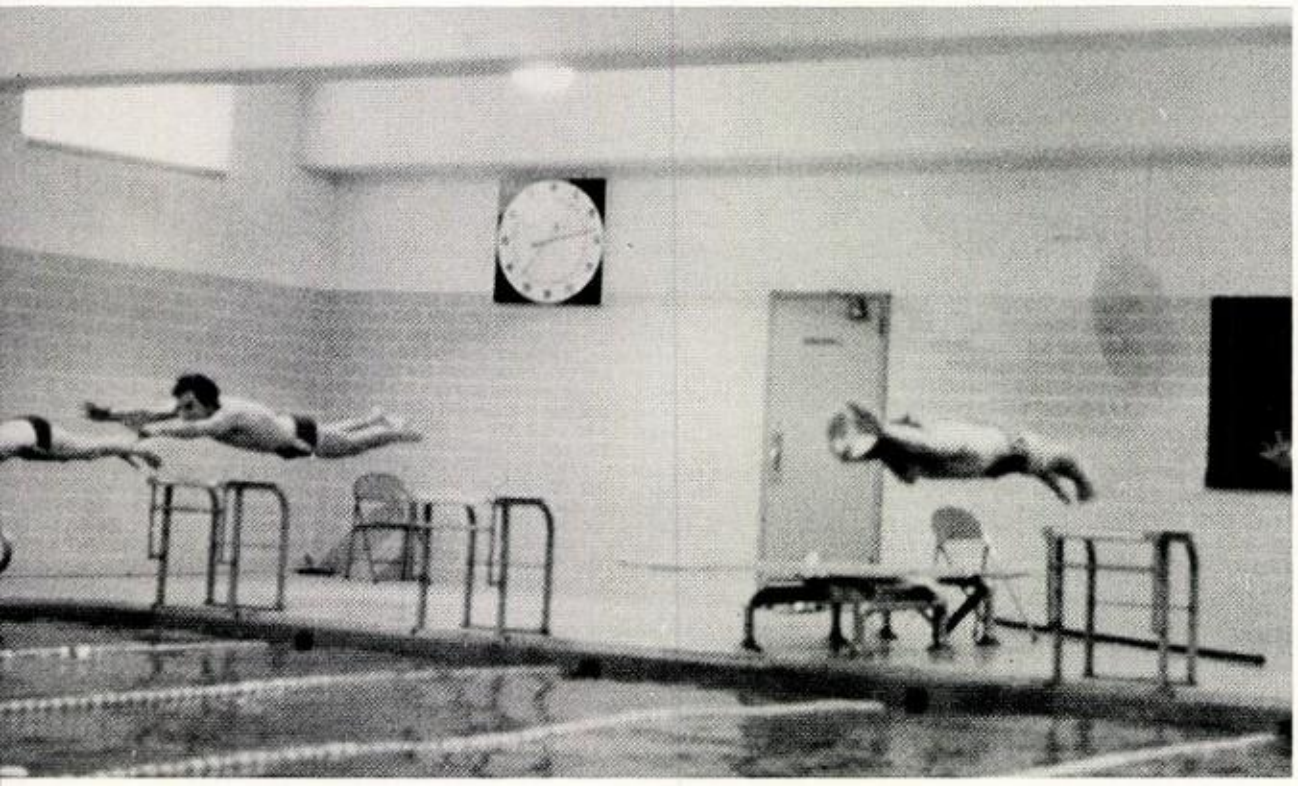
Individual efforts make for prominent swim team



Coach Sylvan Quinn's tankers turned out one of the best seasons in swimming history at Fort high. Due to individual efforts and good balance, the team was able to come up with a 9-2 conference record.

The team finished third in the Southern Swim Conference and ranked second among the class B high schools. Mike Babcock took the conference championship in the breaststroke for the second consecutive year, while sophomore Mike Hoffman was the conference champion in the small school 200 yard individual medley event.

Coach Quinn planned to have five returning lettermen next season. He expected several freshmen to move up to letter-winning positions and add essential depth in various events in the coming year.

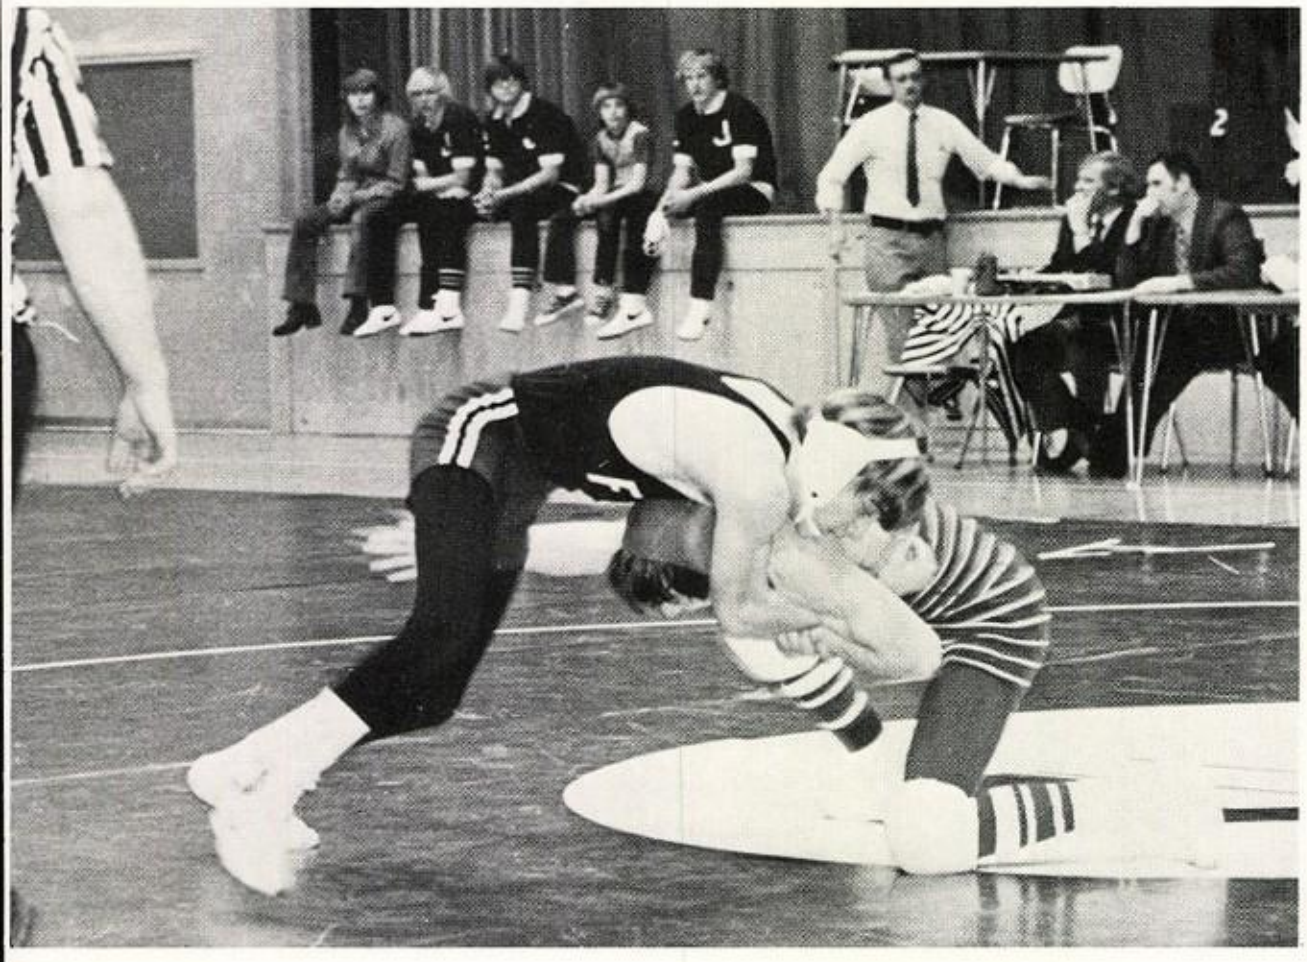
Wrestlers Klug, Burnette qualify for sectionals



Senior grapplers Scott Klug and Scott Burnette qualified for sectionals after Klug defeated his opponent for first place rankings in the 167 pound weight class, and Burnette captured second in the 185 weight division by a wrestleback. Dan Kibbe wrestled at 112 pounds for fourth place standing at the regional tournament.

At the Elkhorn Invitational, Scott Klug dominated his division and gained a championship by being undefeated during the meet. Kibbe captured a second place while Andy Bauer, Scott Burnette and Rich Gess all attained third place standings.

Klug ranked first at the Conference Tournament while Dan Scullin captured a fourth, along with Scott Burnette. The Fort Atkinson Invitational again proved successful for Scott Klug who attained a second and for Rich Gess who ranked third in the heavyweight division. Coaches for the grapplers were Mr. Lueck and Mr. Fuller.

Girls track opens first season; swimmers compete in sectionals

As the 1973 spring season progressed, intramural badminton got underway for girls. Some girls participated as singles players while others played doubles. The team also played a match with the Lake Mills badminton team. Coach Killian noticed improvements shown by the girls this year, and hoped for more participation next season.

1973 was the first year for girls track at Fort High. The team consisted mostly of freshmen girls, along with sophomores and a few juniors. The girls competed in four meets, and earned a total of fifty points. Coach Hausz felt the girls did very well considering the team's limited experience. Nine girls merited certificates.

Under the coaching of Miss Dyer, the new girls Phy. Ed. teacher, the girls swim team progressed to a final season record of seven wins and two losses. The team participated in sectionals, placing in the 400-yard free relay and the 200-yard medley relay. They placed seventh in points out of the 14 schools competing in sectionals. Many team members displayed fine performances, especially Tracy Smith, Sarah Schink and freshman Janet Ketter. Nine of the swimmers earned letters. Junior Tracy Smith took 20 first places out of the 26 events she swam during the season.

Volleyball team rates second in Badger standings

The girls varsity volleyball team progressed to a final season record of 7 victories and 3 defeats. Varsity reserves also had a successful season with 9 wins and a single loss. Coach Killian led the girls to a victory in the W.I.A.A. regionals and a second place in the Badger Conference. A mixture of seniors, juniors and sophomores, along with one freshman, composed the teams. Karla Hayes and Mimi Bienfang were valuable players for the season.

This was the second year of interscholastic competition for the girls tennis team. The team increased both in size and experience since last season. The girls ended their season with a successful record of 6 wins and 1 loss, making them Badger Conference co-champs with Monona Grove.

The girls varsity basketball team ended the 1973-74 season with a disappointing record of 2 wins and 9 losses. With one less game, the J.V. team had a 2-8 final record.

Leading scorers for the teams were Ann Rouse with 48 points and freshman Janet Ketter with 39 points. With the loss of only two seniors, Coach Hanson expected an experienced team for next season. Janet and Diane Ketter progressed to be outstanding performers of the season, along with Ann Roethe who was unable to complete the season.

Underclassmen

Six sophomore girls net letters;

Pemper earns varsity grid letter

Last August 12, Fort Fest talent contest judges awarded first place prizes to sophomores Jill Vail and Kari Abbott. They earned seventy-five dollars for their winning pantomime-dance routine.

Sophomores Jill Vail, Ann Schoofs and Mike Hoffman approached the faculty in order to discuss the matter of open campus for sophomores. On November 21, Principal Lepley explained the study hall program. Participants needed signatures from one parent, the attendance co-ordinator and the assistant or head principal.

Many sophomores merited athletic letters in fall activities. Cross countrymen Dan Riedy and Greg Bauer accepted one letter each while Ken Dahnert won his second consecutive letter. J.V. Football player Ernie Martinez and varsity player Kim Pemper bagged letters. For achievements in swimming, Deb Schneider acquired a letter. Award winners for girl's tennis and volleyball were Sue Allen, Lisa Amacher, Kris Carbon, Tina Koch and Kris Summeril.

At the annual Miss Fort Fest competition the judges voted junior Cindy Knaack to the queen's court as first runner up.

Juniors showed enthusiasm as they won the golden paint brush in the sign painting contest by decorating second floor with crepe paper, cornstalks and posters. Junior class members chose Nancy Yoder as their Homecoming representative.

Last spring girls tried out for the cheerleading and pom-pom squads. Deb Buchholtz won a spot as the only junior on the varsity football and basketball cheering squads. Nancy LaMuro backed the wrestlers, and the junior varsity squad voted Diane Ketter captain. The pom-pom squad consisted of eight girls from the junior class, four returning for their second year.

Seniors

May 1921 marks first Rock Day; seniors annually assume custody

Since the first Rock Day Ceremony, the senior class president hands over the duty of caring for the rock and the tree to the new senior class president, to see that the rock will not be damaged.

The rock symbolizes all the students of FHS who have fought and died for their country. The maple tree planted beside the rock became a symbol of everyone involved in the wars.

Terry Beck's family donated the fence that is around the rock and tree, Mrs. George Dailey donated the flagpole in memory of her husband who died in Vietnam. George Dailey was also Co-captain of his 1957 football team, and Mrs. Smith donated the flagpole light in memory of her son.

Last year Deb Nowodzelski turned over the responsibilities of the rock and tree to the next senior class president, Bill Garthwait and the class of '74.

Sophomores work for recognition in athletic, dramatic pursuits

Each year classes elect one lucky girl to represent them on Homecoming Court. As sophomores, the class of '74 elected Marilyn Rusch to be their representative. Kathy Carpentier was the only sophomore who won a lead in the all school play, "Jane Eyre." She played the part of Leah.

Sophomore boys participated in a variety of varsity sports and some obtained more than one letter. Five received letters in cross country. Among them were Bill Dexheimer, Gregg Petersen, Scott Reich, Steve Zelten and Steve Larsen, who also got a letter in his freshman year. Elvin Jacobson earned letters in both volleyball and basketball, and Scott Angus received a letter in basketball. Scott Reich and Mike Babcock lettered in swimming. Scott Klug, Doug Merriman, Gregg Petersen, and Steve Zelten earned their letters in wrestling.

Prom, post prom find new locales;

Over two hundred attend events

The junior year of the class of '74 brought all kinds of excitement. The year started when Laurie Haubenschild became Captain and president of the pom-pom squad. The '73 wrestling cheerleading squad consisted completely of juniors. They were Lori Luebke, Vicki Ciaglo, Shannon O'Brien, and Sandy Punzel.

Phil Schoofs and Kathy Carpentier held leads in the all-school play, "Flowers for Algernon," and other class members worked on behind stage crews. In the musical "Brigadoon," Luke Russell portrayed Jeff, a main character.

Student representative on the Board of Education, Phil Jackson, worked to free sophomores from the closed study halls. He succeeded, and the halls became open to the entire student body.

There was a new location for the junior prom and post prom. They took place at the Municipal Building and the U.B.C. Church with Sue VanderMause and Luke Russell reigning as queen and king.

Seniors attend summer workshops, explore journalism, photography

During the summer many seniors pursued special interests by attending scholarship funded camps, clinics and workshops. Lisa Lueder attended a two-week yearbook journalism workshop at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire, where she learned about new ideas, techniques and design. While there, the students attending created a sample yearbook as a project.

For new ideas in creativity, Jan Foelker and Sherri Patrick attended an art workshop at the University of Wisconsin-Stout. They worked on various skills to improve their techniques in painting.

Keith Morse traveled to Whitewater to attend a weeklong newspaper clinic sponsored by the Whitewater University.

Legion auxiliary sends three to Badger Girls' State

Each year the "Signal" Staff presents a board of teachers with the names of five seniors. From this list the board picks one student on the basis of his leadership, integrity and personal characteristics. Kim Summeril received the Student of the Year award for 1974.

Senior Jean Desjarlais became eligible to go on into national competition after she became the finalist in the local Betty Crocker Scholarship Award Test.

The senior class nominated three girls from their class for the DAR Award. The faculty then chose one girl from the three. The Daughters of the American Revolution this year gave Mimi Bienfang the Good Citizenship Award. To earn this award, Mimi had to show outstanding leadership, service and patriotism.

As the school year comes to a close, another edition of the Tchogeerrah has been completed. It seems impossible to me. The time passed so quickly. Next year's editor has already begun planning the 1975 Tchogeerrah. For the staff and myself, who could forget all the effort we put into setting up pictures, planning layouts, or trying to get the pages to the publisher on time?

I have many people to thank for their help in the completion of this 57th edition. First I must thank the AAUW and the Kiwanis Club for their generous scholarships enabling me to attend a special journalism clinic last summer. This year, as in the past 16 years, Mrs. Kohls taught the 1974 staff how to work together, write, and survive the many ordeals encountered in creating a yearbook. I must extend my thanks to Mr. Horton and to "The Daily Union" for their professional photographs. Another person who spent many hours in Mrs. Kohls' room was Sandy Poeppel. She involved herself not only with the entire classes sections and index pages but found time to help others when they fell behind. Also special thanks must be given to Cindi Klement, Tom Lueder, Louise Randall and Vicki Ciaglo for their extra help when they were frequently called upon to use their special talents.

I've observed many aspects of student life in the last three years at FHS and have found that most people here are really motivated, interested and involved in their studies, and especially in each other. I have come to believe what the author John Donne once wrote: "No man is an island, entire of itself; every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main; . . . any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in mankind." Each person at FHS can fulfill his every hope and dream if he is willing to take the time to learn to care; to be involved.
